

1

On page 70, what generalization does the author make about what happened when the orphan train stopped?

~~A~~ Lee needed a haircut.

B As usual, a crowd met the train and looked the children over.

~~C~~ A man and his wife adopted Gerald.

D The children spent the night sleeping in a hotel.

EST-201

2

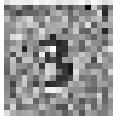

Which statement from pages 76–77 best supports the generalization that Lee feels that adults are often upset with him?

F "I had always felt like a bother to adults."

~~G "I meant to run away that very night."~~

~~H "I stole a glance at Ben."~~

~~I "Then I started to listen to her."~~

The most important difference between Lee's experience with the Naillings and with all other families is

- ~~A~~ he had a larger bedroom with the Naillings
- ~~B~~ there was more food to eat with the Naillings
- C he felt wanted by the Naillings
- ~~D~~ he liked the Naillings' house better than the other houses

TRUE

According to this story, which of the following is a valid statement?

~~F~~ Older children were always chosen first.

~~G~~ Brothers and sisters usually ended up in the same family.

H Life on the train was difficult for the children.

~~I~~ Children always fought with each other on the train.

5

Generalize about whether or not the Naillings will be good parents to Lee. Give examples from the story to support your argument.

I think the Naillings will be good parents to Lee. The Naillings will be good parents to Lee because they really want him to be their son. The author says that at breakfast prayer Ollie thanked God for sending them a new son. I think this means that Ollie and Ben truly want another son and will take care of Lee and love him like my parents love me. This is why I believe Lee will have great parents with the Naillings.

red - introductory sentence

blue - reason in your own words

green - author's own words

black - connection

red - conclusion