

Would you rather be a principal or a teacher? Pick one and explain why you picked the one you did.

I would rather be a principal than a teacher.

I would rather be a principal than a teacher because the principal is the head of school and can make the rules.

I would rather be a principal than a teacher because I could run the school and also get better food.

I would rather be a teacher than a principal because you get to grade their papers and get up in front of the class.

I would rather be a teacher than a principal because you only have to take care of one class and you get to teach

I would rather be a teacher than a principal.

If I had to pick to be a principal or a teacher I would rather be a teacher.

I would rather be a principal than a teacher because you don't have to teach and you're the boss.

I would rather be a principal than a teacher because I could plan field trips and make up prizes for kids.

I would rather be principal than a teacher because the principal is ahead of the whole school and I could make sure all homework could be fun.

I would rather be a teacher than a principal because you can be in charge of the kids and you can have fun and teach.

What advice would you give to a fourth grader coming into fifth grade? Explain to them how to be successful in fifth grade.

The advice I would give an up coming fifth grader would be to do your very best and listen to your teacher.

I'd give the fourth grader going into fifth grade advice about what they will be learning about and what I thought about the teachers.

The advice I would give to a fourth grader coming to fifth grade is to stay focused and do your best on your test.

I would give good advice to a fourth grader coming into fifth grade.

My advice for a fourth grader going into fifth is that you need to work hard and study harder.

The advice I would give to a fourth grader coming to fifth grade would be to do your best and work hard.

This is what advice I would give a fourth grader going into fifth grade.

The advice that I would give a fourth grader about being a fifth grader is that you will be a role model for the new third graders and you'll have homework every day.

If I gave a fourth grade advice about how to be successful in fifth grade I would say to make sure they get their homework done and be quiet so you don't get a big mouth slip.

I would give a fourth grader coming to fifth grade advice about listening to your teacher always and study for tests.

The advice I would give a fourth grader coming into fifth grade is to be prepared to have homework at night and not to talk when the teacher is talking.